

ALEKSANDR IBRAGIMOV - CV

Aleksandr Ibragimov is a London based professional artist painter, born in Russia in 1972. He discovered his love for oil painting in 2009 and became a professional artist shortly after attending art college in 2010.

In 2015 he joined the Moscow Union of Professional Artists and worked in one of the oldest art schools in Moscow (Moscow Creative and Art Studio), where he conducted Master Classes. He also spent a couple of years in Turkey, where he focused on Art Therapy based Master Classes and Plein Air Landscape painting.

In 2021, Aleksandr moved to the UK from where he obtained a Certificate in Art Therapy and he has been painting in different locations around London and also continued teaching individuals the techniques of Impressionist oil paintings.

His original works are in private collections all over the world, including the UK, Malaysia, Germany, Canada, China, Portugal, and Sweden.

Aleksandr Ibragimov has always gravitated towards Impressionism with its vivid colours and he is particularly fascinated by the rendering of light in a lot of these works, especially by Renoir and Monet. The combination of light, vibrant colours and the resulting emotions that these canvases convey is what made Aleksandr wanting to focus on this particular art expression. A lot of his works are created "plein air" (outdoor landscape painting), just like by the old Impressionist Masters. Only in nature can he focus on the ever changing light and shadow and paint against the clock with bold and emotional brush strokes.
