Artist Statement

I am drawn to the spaces where memory, identity, and human experience converge. My mixedmedia paintings are all alive in my head; with the characters all moving and behaving in atypical, even questionable ways. My work spans painting, poetry, performance, and technology-driven media, blending traditional techniques with holograms, projection mapping, NFTs, and immersive installations. Each piece is a living, multi-sensory encounter where narratives unfold and characters move beyond the visual. Through these layered forms, I explore tension, displacement, and transformation, turning constraint into presence and struggle into expression. My poems are juxtaposed as a thin under layer, further bringing out past echoes and the harsh brutality in the story. I aim to create works that resonate emotionally and intellectually, opening a space for reflection, connection, and the celebration of resilience, agency, and the complexity of the human spirit.
